

I am writing to you regarding Generic ECDIS courses to be offered at Hunter TAFE during 2012. Maritime studies will be offering courses based on the IMO Model Course 1.27 of 2010, "Electronic Chart and Information Systems – Operational use of ECDIS"

I have attached a document from the North of England P&I Club that details the implications for industry and draw your attention to the sections on training, both generic and type.

The course is conducted in our ECDIS training room with each student having access to ECDIS equipment. A number of exercises are conducted using ECDIS in this room and in the Maritime Simulator.

The course can accommodate six to twelve students. Student notes, morning tea, lunch and afternoon tea are included in the price. The course runs over five days for a total of forty hours as specified by the IMO Model Course document.

Our pricing is both competitive and flexible. Should you wish to fully book a course for your personnel we can offer a discounted rate.

Dates for the courses are as follows;
